Data privacy statement

Data protection

We take the protection of your personal data very seriously. We are committed to keeping your personal data safe and secure and handle your information in accordance with our legal obligations and this data privacy statement.

You can visit this website without disclosing personal details. If personal information (such as your name or your postal or email address) is collected, this will be done on a voluntary basis wherever possible. Your information will not be passed on to any third party without your express permission.

We would like to stress that Internet data transmission (e.g. in email communications) can be subject to security breaches. Complete protection of data from third-party access is not possible.

Cookies

This website uses so-called cookies. These will not cause any damage to your computer and they do not contain any viruses. Cookies help to make our website more user-friendly, effective and secure. They are small text files that will be stored on your computer and in your browser. Most of the cookies we use are so-called session cookies. This means that they will be automatically deleted once you have left our site and closed your browser. Other cookies will remain on your computer until you delete them. These will allow us to recognise your browser on your next visit to our site.

Depending on your browser settings, you will be able to see what cookies have been set. You can choose to accept only certain cookies or accept cookies only in certain cases, you can block all cookies or you can ensure that all cookies are automatically deleted when you close your browser. Disabling cookies can limit the functionality of this website.

Server log files

Our service provider will collect and automatically store information in so-called server log files, which your browser will transmit to us automatically. These include the following information:

- Type and version of your browser
- Operating system used
- Referrer URL
- Host name of the computer
- Date and time of the server access

This data does not allow us to identify any specific users. It will not be combined with any other data sources. However, we reserve the right to check the data if we have any specific information relating to potentially unlawful acts.

Google Analytics

This website uses certain functions of the web analytics service Google Analytics offered by Google Inc., 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA.

Google Analytics uses so-called cookies. These are text files that are stored on your computer and allow us to analyse how you have used our website. The information created by these cookies about your use of our website is usually transmitted to and then stored on a Google server in the US.

Browser plugin

You can disable cookies by changing the settings in your browser software. However, we would like to stress that this might result in the loss of some of the functionality of our website. You can also prevent the data created by the cookie with regard to the use of our website (including your IP address) from being transmitted to and processed by Google. Download and install the browser plugin available here:

<https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=de>

Object to data collection

You can prevent Google Analytics from collecting your data by clicking on the link below. This will set an opt-out cookie, which will prevent collection of your data when you visit our website in future: deactivate Google Analytics More information on the handling of user data by Google Analytics is available in their data protection statement:

<https://support.google.com/analytics/answer/6004245?hl=de>

SSL encryption

For security reasons and to protect transmission of confidential information including the enquiries you send us, our website uses SSL encryption. Secure connections are characterised by the fact that the address bar of your browser will change from http:// to https:// and that a lock sign will appear.

If SSL encryption is activated, third parties will not be able to read or access any data that you transmit to us.

Right to information, deletion and restriction

You have the right to request information about your personal data that we have stored, where it originated from, who obtained it and how it is being used by us. You also have the right to request correction, restriction or deletion of this data. If you have any question about this or any other topic in relation to personal data, please contact us anytime using the contact information in the imprint.

Objection to marketing emails

We expressly object to the use of the contact information published in the imprint in accordance with legal requirements for transmission of marketing information that we have not specifically requested. We reserve the right to take legal action if we receive any unsolicited marketing materials, for instance by means of spam emails.
